1st SDSN Kazakhstan Conference

SDSN Kazakhstan, May 30, 2023

Graduate School of Public Policy, Nazarbayev University,
Astana, Kazakhstan

The Sustainable Development Solutions Network Kazakhstan chapter (hereinafter – SDSN Kazakhstan) will hold its 1st Conference and invites all interested parties to participate. The Conference will take place at Nazarbayev University, Astana, Kazakhstan on May 30, 2023.

The 1st SDSN Kazakhstan Conference will be a full one-day event with several panel sessions and invited notable speakers in the field of sustainable development. This event is designed to provide attendees with academic and professional backgrounds with quality educational and networking opportunities focused on sustainable development in Central Asia.

With the focus on sustainability and environmental challenges in the region, we are open to papers and studies, in their complete or working stages, that will explore research and education dimensions of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) in Kazakhstan and the wider Central Asia region.

We are particularly interested in the priorities set by SDSN Kazakhstan which are a) Land, Water and Communities b) Climate and Energy and c) Education and Partnerships. We however also welcome contributions related to other SDGs in Kazakhstan and the wider Central Asia region.

Coffee breaks and a lunch break will be provided for participants.

There is no participation fee for the conference.

Please send your paper title, 350-word extended abstract, and short bio/CV by March 13 to ensure full consideration to sdsn@nu.edu.kz
